Pastor Ron Hampton of Takin' it to the Streets, Inc. is leading the relief effort.

Takin it to the Streets, Inc., a community outreach ministry with offices in Washington, D.C. and Shreveport La., is coordinating a relief effort to provide donated food and clothing to assist the families in the Passaic, N.J. area that were affected by super storm "Sandy" on October 28 and 29, 2012.

Operation Rescue – II is a coordinated partnership of Takin' it to The Streets, with Higher Cause Productions (HCP) of Alexandria, Va., The American Rescue Workers, Inc., of Capitol Heights, Md., Takin' it to the Streets – "Nu Dimensions" Outreach Ministries of Alexandria, Va., and other ministry friends in the Washington, D.C. area.

The announcement was made by Pastor Ron Hampton, founder and president of Takin' It To The Streets. The event will be held on Saturday, April 20, 2013 at 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., at Saint Anthony's Church, at 107 Myrtle Avenue, Passaic, N. J. 07055 "We are working with Sr. Anne Moroney, Director of Community Health Education at Saint Mary's Hospital and her team, as they serve as the local host entity," said Hampton. "Higher Cause Productions is providing technical audio support."

"This is a mission is which everyone can participate in donations or financial help," said Hampton. "We are asking Washington, D.C. area ministries and organizations to donate food and winter clothing items."

Donations Needed

Donations needed are non-perishable goods such as: bottled water and canned goods. We are asking for donations of warm, clean, winter items and clothing such as: blankets, coats, hats, gloves, and boots, for men, women and children. We need donations of canned or bottled baby formulas and foods, disposable baby diapers, and toiletries for all ages.

The outreach and distribution team will depart the D.C. area with the food and clothing donations on Saturday, April 20, 2013, to travel from metropolitan Washington, D.C., to Passaic, N.J. The team will conduct ministry outreach while also distributing food and clothing donations to the local families.

Donors should contact Pastor Hampton for more information on the donation drop-off locations.
